

Fighting An Old Troll Right Outside That Old Troll's Bone-filled Rotten Cave (sung to the tune of "Skating Away (on the thin ice of a new day)" – Jethro Tull)

Meanwhile back near an old cave the four adventures brave a troll's wrath they now stave young Thomas they did save for the cave near by well it smelled of death and with the troll so close, they could smell his breath and when he jumped up in a frightful rage With Young Thomas in his grips the heroes pulled weapons from their hips and into a fight they bravely did engage fighting an old troll

fighting an old troll
fighting an old troll
right outside that old troll's bone-filled rotten cave

As the troll began to spring, the fellowship did bring, arrows to his ugly face And then he swung his bone around, threw young Tomas to the ground, in this horrible dark place

And when he knocked Iari down and grabbed Findermir up off the ground, he was...winning
But with Ruby and Edrahil nocking steady arrows near he fell to the dirt and he's no longer grinning

fighting an old troll
fighting an old troll
fighting an old troll

fighting an old troll
fighting an old troll
with a fellowship of four so very brave
